Experience

Founder · Napoleon March 2025 – Present · Paris / California

- Built a behavioral product to reduce social media addiction by pricing user attention per minute
- Designed and launched MVP from scratch (mobile app + payment logic) to test willingness to pay for reduced screen time
- Acquired 200+ users with paid validation, confirming early willingness to pay for behavior change
- Built in public, reaching 100k reach through short-form content (LinkedIn, X)
- Established nonprofit extension (Time Left Association) to align product with long-term behavioral impact
- Continuing to ship AI tools publicly — 5 launched agents at nathanhirsch.xyz/ai-labs including EvalAgent, Customer Insight Engine, and a Writing Agent

About

The through-line across 8+ years of building products: does it change something real? I've shipped a product that made people pay to use their phone less, scaled crypto infrastructure to $1.1B in volume, and founded twice. Now bringing that same instinct to AI: moving fast, in public. Recently moved to California, looking for a team that asks the same question.
